The Turning of the Tide Accelerates

On Friday 1.30.2026 several events unfolded in a matter of hours

1. Silver futures experienced a 10-sigma shock, one of the rarest volatility events ever recorded in the dataset going back to the 1970s.
2. The US Department of Justice released over 3 million pages, 2,000+ videos, and 180,000 images, making it one of the largest public criminal-case disclosures in history. This scale alone created a global information transparency shock, with journalists, watchdog groups, and foreign governments scrambling to assess the implications.

3. The United States announced the arrival of significant military assets in the Middle East theater and threatened another unprovoked attack against Iran.

These events took place in the context of a systemic transference of energy taking place worldwide – a constrictive environment in the cyclical shift from old to new known as an “overfall.” In 2025, we forecast the timing of such clashes of energy metaphorically in the context of a “tidal exchange.” That will intensify dramatically between 2025 and 2030.¹ As mariners, we understand that things can suddenly go from turbulent to extreme in such conditions, manifesting violent, boiling, upward-pushing energies called “jumps” and “tiderips” navigators. Keeping in mind that the peak flood of incoming higher order consciousness does not occur until 2048, we view the current rip channel of potentially disastrous events to present existential risks primarily to personality structures to choose to cling to legacy consciousness. Our 2025 forecast also affirms that those who choose to embrace the higher self will find themselves able to fly above the fray. Rather than being swept away in the outgoing current, they are seen as harbingers sailing in on the new.²

Two-Year Outlook

This forecast is issued aboard s/v Nüwa. Her command follows directives contained under statutory image 60 in the Codes, according to public records.³ Image 60 is associated with loss. Page 60 of the 2025 disclosures confirm the bifurcation of old and new consciousness which manifests as great loss in the energetic rip channel.⁴

The earth's divisive tone within which she is healing, shall cause the greatest separation of the earth's crust you have yet to witness.

It shall move underneath the oceans.

And cause waves to reverberate higher than you suppose.

There shall be a great inundation of water.⁵

Given the sharp up-welling of events and powerful clash of divisive perspectives that characterize the events of this week, we sharpen the timeframe of our 2025 predictions by upgrading the potential for a great multitude to experience a significant global catastrophe within the next two years.

Overfall and Peak Flood

As things began to intensify, s/v Nüwa deployed 3.29.2025. She sailed south from her home port in Alaska to take up a position on the frontlines of the clash. The institutions that have codified fear and the culture who is dependent on them are being swept into the abyss. Authenticity and mutual exchange are incoming. This is what will form a new shore where the old once prevailed. As we have described, Nüwa's command has been directed to carry out the mandate of establishing the new shore using statutory image 60 as a guideline. At the center of the image, it says

Lose what brings hatred.

Possess love and go on missions to and fro; be without blame.

This should be a joyful thing.⁶

Now. You might ask how we can be joyful when what manifests in the riptide is genocide and war. Higher order counterparts transmit the following specialist Selig

The true agreement to the divine is not bypassing the old or pretending it is not there.

It is knowing the fear, feeling it and releasing it in order to move beyond it.

You cannot land on new firmament when you are attached to the old.

The passage many of you undergo is as if one continent to another shore.

The release of the old, the new way forward, may bring you to a bumpy sea, strapped to the mast and waiting for calm.

But you will arrive.

⁶ § 06.08.004, Image 60, (358).

You always do and you always will.

To align to a new vibration will claim you through whatever you need to move beyond the old.

None of this is punishment – it is all opportunity.

But on the new shore, in the new way of being, new claims may be made.

Now, the claim to war is the denial of the divine in its purest sense.

Humanity created war.

Humanity can lift beyond it.

The new claim that is being made sails in on the incoming energy. According to the energetic tables calculated by the indigenous, peak flood will occur in 2048.⁷ Conditions between now and then are influenced by conscious dispositions. January 2026 culminated in increased volatility and turbulence. Nevertheless, we do not classify it at the level of “extreme.” Not yet. In the formal system of classification that we use to navigate, “extreme” denotes a catastrophic inundation of legacy consciousness and its institutions in the coming years.⁸ There is a letting go that must occur before peak flood. This will take place in the overfall which started this week. Voting doesn’t stop this.
